

Happy New Year

Greetings of the New Year from Dadi Janki

To my brothers and sisters around the world,

Om shanti and greetings of love and peace from the heart for the new year. On New Year's Day, I will celebrate my 104th birthday and begin my 105th year. I have requested that the celebration be simple. When we are simple and humble, then we can remember the One who is bringing us light and guiding us at this auspicious time.

The whole world is fluctuating, but for those of us who are traveling on the path of light, we don't go into the negativity of things of the world. If we think about them or speak about them, they will affect us. We should only create thoughts that make us light and only remember that which is necessary. I simply have to remember who I am and who is mine.

The body sometimes needs medicine, but what else do we need? Blessings.

Blessings do a great deal of work. Give love and happiness to everyone you meet, and you will receive blessings in return. We are together in our hopes for this time, so in this new year, let us make a commitment to one another to meet as spiritual friends and to see past what separates us to the many things that unite us on our journey through darkness into light.

With love

BK Janki
